

*I'm Changing
My Mind*

Dr. Rob McClelland | 2.7.10

to get on the same page with God

Introduction:

My perspective has me at the center. That's called the natural mind. I don't rule out God or deny that the Bible is true. It's just a perspective that begins with man (ME) as the basic given reality in the universe. I have basic rights and basic needs and basic expectations. But if God created the world, created me, formed my heart, knows my inward thoughts (that's scary!), and is certain about what is best for me – why don't I try to understand my life from His point of view? It's possible!

Isaiah 58:1-6 – God Has a Different Perspective

Read v. 1 and v. 3: It appears we want the _____.

But Man wants a change of _____.

God wants a change of _____.

Colossians 1:15-20 – God's Sovereign Perspective

- He knows the invisible world in heaven.
- He knows the visible world on earth.
- "...in Him all things hold together." v. 17

John 18:15-27 – God Never Wastes Our Pain

He knows my _____.

He knows my _____.

He has a _____.

Application: I start from _____.

- God's perspective
 - God's great plan
 - My fresh start (Psalm 51)